See the back of this card to learn about digitally delivered course materials!
Digitally delivered course material, referred to as “Inclusive Access” (IA) makes your textbook experience easier and more affordable.

What is inclusive access?
For select courses, course materials are digitally delivered to all enrolled students on their Brightspace account on the first day of classes. Content is available anywhere Brightspace is accessed.

How do I pay for these digital books?
IA is billed directly to the student’s account per course. A student will see a “Digital Textbook” charge on their bill.

What if I don’t want the digital version?
Students have the first week of classes to review digital material, opt out and have a refund created on their account.

Are digital books less expensive?
Yes! With our IA program, the Bookstore negotiates with the publisher to offer the lowest price per title available on the market. Most digital textbooks are at least half the price of a physical copy!

How do I find out if my course participates in the IA program?
Once your class schedule is set log into your Bookstore profile, navigate to the “My Curriculum” tab and select “Print Book List.”

What if I need a physical textbook?
Digital course material is not available for all classes. Our website will tell you which books you’ll need to buy in physical form. Use our website to shop and compare online prices based on your Book List. Don’t forget to add a credit card to your profile to use this feature.
Select in store pickup when you buy from us and we’ll have them ready when you arrive on campus!
